Investment Philosophy

Superior equity investments are over time the largest potential source of 'added value' to a portfolio. Our equity management focuses on security selection to add most of the value. McLean Budden's investment process is rooted in a team approach, with strong fundamental research. We look for companies with stable earnings growth, strong management teams and sound balance sheets. A defining characteristic of our firms that our investment management approach has been consistently applied through various market cycles.

Fixed income management emphasizes preservation of capital and income generation. Through moderate term and sector adjustments the bond portfolio is expected to outperform selected benchmark indices on a risk-adjusted basis.

The investment managers at McLean Budden adhere to three basic principles of investment management: to add value in the management of each asset class; to lessen volatility in asset mix management; and to adhere to the long-term risk/reward profile of each mandate.
